

Gabled Patio Covers

The gabled patio cover is ideal for people who want a contemporary look. They can also be combined with a conventional or flyover patio. They are constructed in both single skin and insulated (composite) roofing material. In many cases this design is combined with a window or door in the existing house to provide light and to increase the view from inside.

- Increased light into existing dwelling
- Front beam can follow line of gable for better look
- Fascia along front of gable to blend to patio
- Rear flashing hides house gutter from underneath
- Attractive infills (incl. lattice & polycarbonate)
- Gables can have polycarbonate to increase light
- Var widths of gable to match features of roof line
- Greater ventilation to remove unwanted hot air
- Increased light in existing rooms
- Council Approval
- Downpipe connected to stormwater
- 10yr Workmanship Guarantees
- Pre-building inspection by Construction Supervisor

Whilst gables can be constructed out of any of our wide range of brands, the most popular are the heat-deflective single skin brands. The high gloss of the heat-deflective roof combined with the height of the gable ensures a cooler outdoor area that is useable all year round. If a gable is not to your liking, consider our Flyover patio covers. These provide many of the features of a gable.
